

FANNY BARBER

I was born to tell the truth. Even when I lie, I fear towards the truth. What prevents me from being honest. My work has demands on me. They create a life. It creates expectations. I learn how to live up to these expectations. This is all part of my development. On what terms would I betray his commitment. I look at the challenges. I look at the rewards. If I love my life, I will continue to come in myself to this reality. Will continue to be part of me. This can help me grow. How does that work? How do I commit myself to that reality? What is the foundation of this belief? I feel invincible. The organization gives me invincibility. I'm looking for an organization that grants me disability. It makes me in fallible. I am recruited for my perfection. I can describe myself in this way. I want others to see me this way. Is this even possible? What do I do if my family has made me feel isolated from the world. I realize deep in my soul that the organization has created a lasting family for me. I engage this connection. I am brace it. It has everything to me. I want nothing less. This is all part of being apart this is all a part of the organization. We recognize its appeals. We all hang out together in the hopes that we can give meaning to this recognition. This is where things get difficult. Does the organization require leaders who can maintain a certain level of discipline. What would that involve? How are we involved? Are we all involved? How do I know myself? How do I know others? How do they know me? What is missing from this puzzle? Am I missing from this puzzle? I need clarity. I need understanding. The organization assures us that our individual efforts will be rewarded. If we work hard, and we commit ourselves to the aims of the organization, the organization will provide for us. Success comes from the individual. Those who complain do not have sufficient motivation on the road. We work together to show up our motivation. But we all realize it is down to us individually. The organization fortifies those aspects of our personality so that we can meet the challenges. These are not abstractions. These are social realities. This is what we experience from day to day. This is what prevents our development. We overcome these obstacles to our growth. We welcome the possibilities. This gives us a lasting credibility. It blesses us with knowledge. How do I see myself is different. How have I acquired a clear focus. It is all down to my efforts. If I fail, I will be left on the wayside. I have already been blessed I have been given what I need for my overall development. This is critical for my nature. And I trust these lessons. They are now part of my make up. As I continue a chore falls, it's understanding will become locked deep inside me. It will enable me to take on extensive challenges. With me the breath that I need. I know the rules. I'm here to obey the rules. I don't want to make waves. I want things to be simple. That is why I embrace the organization. It gives me clarity about the world. This is the foundation of my greatest obstacle. I am a person who is formed by her passion. My desire enhances my being. It adds to my connection to the world. How do I do this? How to make it all happen? It's not just about pushing buttons. I need to live this. Why am I not tempted? Put another way, why do my Temptations lead me back to my commitment to the organization. A deep way, this is the basis of my values. I believe the system. I believe in its rewards. I take guidance from those who think the same way. Even though alternatives may seem appealing, fundamentally, I am lead back to the same path. On this path I can get what I need. That is why I have devoted myself to this way of life. It is habit-forming. It is fulfilling. At the same time, I have been chosen because I see some thing else. Items I am an observer what is really going on. In my observation I can provide a unique certainty that the organization can overcome its opposition. I know how to confront the opposition. I know how to use it for my game. That is why I am so effective. Beyond my skills as a ground breaker, I am also an infiltrator. I know how to characterize a culture. I know how to absorb the lessons from other organizations. Makes me more adept. I can find pleasure for myself. But I can also boost others and their pursuits. This adds to my leadership position. This makes my world that it is. This makes the world the way that it is. They gave us a picture once and for all. It gives a sense of how we view things. Bless Esiason keeps us. Makes us more than we are. That is why we have exist in this place and it makes us more than we are. My skills at infiltration may threaten some of the organization. I seem to understand things that no one else to us. For the last, I can take this knowledge to enhance my own abilities. That is where I find my strength. That is where I enhance my greatness. I'm an important part of this organization. Even when I fail, I succeed. I have found new ways to find this method. This is part of our growth. This is how we encompass the world. We cannot accommodate multiple points of you. This gives us a stronger level of control. And this control it's certain and it's application. I love this opportunity. It gives me everything. Nothing else matters. I overcome my insecurities. I find a strength. Point to me. Look at her. She's doing what needs to get done. No one else can shine in the light. That is why I'm so adept. I've been ready for this moment.

This is part of my education. Records totally with my personality. The organization has been framed so that it gets me. This is how we will live in the future. It'll grasp our needs. It'll grasp the needs of all of us. That is what gives us power. That's what gives us ascendancy. No one can contradict this understanding no one can counter this vision. Where does this begin and end? What makes this possible? Why are we at the center of this transformation of the world. In a sense, the world welcomes us. We can do. It gives us hope. We step into the breach. We realize how we are needed. Can we fulfill that commitment. This is all part of an ongoing experience. We don't look back. We own time in history. We create the memories that will sustain our position. We can challenge anyone else who sees things differently. It was meant to be. It was always meant to be. Anyone who thinks differently can be marginalized. Can hate themselves even more. They can side with this wonder. They can envision in eventual triumph if they surrender to the organization. There's no other way. There's no other way to obtain forgiveness. There is no other salvation. Everything begins and ends with the organization. You were gonna station creates a reality. You're going to the reality is long lasting. There is nothing else. I need you to provide for me. I need the world to provide for me. I need the organization to give me what I need. Why is this also surprising. Why do I wonder. Why do my questions remain on answered. I see all this and more. I know all this and more. My trying to avoid? Who do I try to avoid? Where are the traps? The traps are in our selves. They come from a lack of skill. I have training. I find people who can improve my skills. The organization gives me credit for this kind of initiative. It helps me to become more than I am. I love the opportunity. Your organization is everything. I create a face to accompany the organization I find a knowledge. I find Grace. Where can I go to escape these things? Who else wants to get involved. We are looking for new recruits. We find others Scherer aims. They share our strengths. They share our brilliance. They adopt our vision. The organization knows her how to adapt to the situation's that makes it stronger thank you Absurd call us. We love this cars. There's nothing else but there's cars. How does everything to us. We see the invitation. We are drawn to the invitation. We immerse ourselves in this invitation. This is a form of belief. That is why we are so successful in the world. We will not yield. We will not surrender ourselves. We have been tested. We have been certified. We have been chosen. This process has been extensive. It has shown our unique abilities. This adds to our destiny. The organization gives meaning where there was none. Even in temptation, we realize how we are exciting our fundamental urges. This is all part of the foundation that blesses the organization. Is nothing but this cohesiveness. It exists everywhere. Exist for all of us. It is complete and ongoing. I do not need an explanation. I do not need love. We are loved. We can explore these blessings. We can find what is lacking in the world. That is why we are so good at what we do. We have what is necessary. We are given the resources. Sad to our a man. We are carried along by this energy. Is fruit. This is a prophecy in action. This makes us home. It's a Saturday and gives us the last ignition. With this mission we know. We grant ourselves grader. Even in understood recognizing these challenges, I wonder if I have been distracted if I let myself lose what was needed? What is the foundation for this knowledge? I will be excepted. I love this possibility. It is everything to me. No one can take this from me. No one can a bridge upon this right. It is fundamentally mine. Nothing can take it from me. This is why we all love the organization. It adds to our knowledge. And makes us greater than we are. And that way we extend ourselves. We embrace what is available. We find lasting us. More than anything else, this is my education. This is my text. This is my scripture. This is my mode of action. This is everything to me. I will not give in and trains manner. Adds to my power. A person can't expect too much. He can't get lost. He hast to deal with what's there. Why should he think that it's going to be any different? That is where we come in. We are there to impress our beliefs on others so that they can make the best decisions for themselves. Even in temptation, I realize that I will triumph. I'm standing these beliefs to others. I have made the break with one kind of thinking. Now, I am brace another. That gives me hope. It gives me strength. And makes me greater than I am. This is all that matters. This is all that ever matters. This is all that will ever matter. That is why I exist. I exist to engage in this experience. How did I lose my place? How did I ever lose my place. I was working with others and start the same. The organization is there to give me everything that I need. From this recognition I will discover a lasting awareness. This will all make sense to me. I will connect to the power. I will be able to disseminate that understanding. It will be everything to me. My omnipotence will engage my omniscience. There's no part of the universe that can avoid our surveillance. That is our fundamental principle. That is why we have succeeded up to this point. This has given us sustenance. And it will continue to act in this way. Nothing can take away from this recognition. That is what gives us our assurance. That is what gives us life. And processing else understand. This is what makes us great. This one makes us stronger. This is the fundamental principle. Comes through our efforts. And we attend that support. We can teach the success to others. I can get some knowledge. And this power cords with our nature. That is why we are who we are. We have this knowledge. We have been given this blessing. It is everything to us. We can protect it. We have the security. That makes us feel good about ourselves we love that experience. It is engaging. It is lasting. Do we even have the words to express it. Where does it take us? Or does it even take us?. There is nothing greater than this realization. It is the now in the forever. It is our redemption. Okay I didn't feel as if I had been programmed. I hadn't gone through any form of brainwashing. I excepted the Ames The aims of the organization because they agreed with its mission. I believed that I had provided support for that mission. Without my participation, the organization would not have been as authoritative. I was helping to create a new way of looking at the world. Nation to take me to ideas this can make all of us stronger. And added to my RAW. I was not only excepted. I was a valuable part of the team. I was creating policy. I was advancing a philosophy. This gave me my understanding it was part of a roadmap for success and others could accord with its understanding this when I enable us to deliver necessary services. It would make us need it. And this understanding could be shared with others. This added to my mission. It gave me room to grow or enhanced my educational awareness in the organization was becoming stronger it was asserting itself and was overcoming its opponents there was no other way to see this calling. That's where I came in I was providing ideology. And this needed ideology was essential this men's activity should buy this is sanctified me in this long. Gave me a feeling of belonging. It's only added to these efforts. It made him seem more insistent. How could I see this any differently? I saw the possibilities I can share my knowledge. I can invite others. Or. Just gave me a greater understanding to the sense of a awareness. This fabric was woven tightly. But there's all also something chaotic that I had observed. I RAW was important for advancing this random character of experience. This gives strength to the organization. It enabled it to overcome its opposition. Affect its concerns. Recognize all these factors. Everything occurred through me. I was able to do things and no one else in the organization. I understood a special meaning of truth. It was more physical. It was a RAW. S. A. It gave me a reason. Even amidst the disasters, I was giving form to the world. To me to create the world. This is all part of my truth. This is part of my blessing. Period. Accepting my greatness. I created a new truth. More than certain. This was everything was I supposed to do with this now or what is the organization is all powerful entity no opposition. Did it anticipate any obstacles to its growth. Where did I fit in all this. How was this is my story? I felt that this cohesiveness existed entirely in the physical realm. And this gave me the impetus as my interest. Period disturb. I would grow and I would achieve a nothing good contradict my knowledge I was I was the Director

This is where the fun starts. This is where you decide to protect yourself. You may have enemies. Your enemies may do what they can to get in your way. They may try to dominate you. Any means that you need to be more assertive. You need to look out for yourself. You have to understand the challenges. In the end of? You can assume that the organization is there to protect you. At the same time, people look out for themselves. They realize what they want. I need to leave it at that. There's nothing else in your favor. There's nothing that's going to completely liberate you from this situation. You were stuck once and for all. It's your nature. This is your challenge. There's enough things to worry about. That's route how it all goes. That's how you find yourself. You're on your way. There's enough to worry about the sewer it gets really difficult. You can claim that this is all about you. And the organization feeds dad understanding but there's part of you that realizes that it's all different. There's more to it. So you go with it. Deal with it. You face it. Period in might be worth your while. You might be able to make it happen or that is part of your skill that is where they brought you aboard. Do you understand the truth. You're willing to live for the truth. You're willing to live for what they tell you. How can you possibly know. Maybe they sold you up with drugs. They convince you that you understand something. You're in the wilderness. You have no idea where you are. You're lost among the monsters. Verge of understanding. This can change your game. How did I miss this app? It was so easy. And I made a mistake. I'm sure that I had your number. This is not your number. How did you get involved? How are you in? And is ation tries to control his things. But it doesn't do such a good job. Perhaps that's one of the problems in trying to make things work. Do you want to get involved. Do you know how this can affect you. How much do you have left. This could easily throw you off. I can scare you. What you're going through. I got all this started? Why don't you start it? How did you get in the falls? Are you involved? What are the limits of your involvement? They keep interrogating you. Who have you been talking to? What are you been telling them? We need to see your nose. We need to see what you're thinking. We need your computer. It's not years. You're not gonna take it out of here. You're not gonna be able to make a coffee. Things work out. That's how your life works out. I know it takes a little bit. You make your own digital copy. Take it home with you. You have it all in your hand. They are not going to be able to continue. Do you have it all in your hand. You have it all under control. This is all that matters. You're a good at this. It's a technique. You've developed it. You've perfected it. You need to make this work for you. I've entered the space. I've been observed. You have all these layers of security. What are you protecting? Who are you going to hurt? This is where it all falls apart. You get some clueless wonder trying to play the game. How did you even get in here? I will let you in? Where is this coming from? I can turn around and go home. I can think if there's said nothing to do with me. It's nothing to do with me. Where is this coming from I am the Director. Why does he think he can interfere in my life the truth. I'm someone who loves the truth. And someone who cares for the truth. No one can stop me I'm all powerful. I have the knowledge. Why did I get sidetracked again? What would they do if they knew that I was off on my own? That's how it all works. No one is in control. The more that I investigate, the more that the control is mine. I am all powerful. I cannot be stopped. I am wonderful. I cannot be stopped. This is beyond anything immediate in our environment. There's no way to think about this email this place before. It's a little different. Basically the same. They come out here. They try to escape. But they're on top of you. What are you supposed to do now. You need to maintain your silence. You can't let them break you down. They try to make you think that they know something that you don't know. But you have places in your mind where you can retreat. He cannot get to you. He will practice this before. Maybe get your drugs hoping to get you to talk. Learn how to say things to keep the gig going. I do not reveal what you want to remain hidden. That is your strength. That is what makes you professional. You're convincing yourself that you are more abreast of the latest developments. Talk to you out. What is that gonna do to you. Will that prevent you from participating. Up to you hours. You down. We're trying to shut you down. You have a lot to work from. You have a lot of information in your favor. He will use it when you can. A little has changed it's still basically the same situation. You need to maintain your controls. He need to use your assets when you can. You still have information that they do not have. They will never have it. That is part of your strength. Need to use it for your benefit. You do not let yourself get distracted. How are you managing to do this. I'm gonna take you so far. He will have to call for help. Your need back up. This is not something that you can change on your own can you hear it happening. It's happening over and over again. No other way to see this. You've got back to the base. You've made it back to your hours. But there's still so much to deal with. There's still so many things in your way. Why do you believe that there are any alternatives. There's only one more day to make this happen. We're gonna have to listen closely. You can fake it. Or do you know if you're OK. You're the teacher. If I bring it up now., It could interfere with the operation. We are looking for a clearer success. We cannot afford to add things get out of hand. It's up to you. It's all up to you. You're supposed to be good at this. This is your expertise. Things are getting difficult. I need to suck it up. You need to assess what is the opposition. You need to always assess what is the opposition. We need to figure out a mess. You need to find the necessary support. You can wait at this. Successes in your grasp. There's no other way to think about this. You can't let yourself be discovered. You can't lose your edge. The ability to control of the whole organization. Do you know what that means? Do you know what any of this means? You can pretend that you were looking at history. But you see nothing you recognize the power. And recognize your opponents. You see the opposition. You see how you were breaking down. He recognize how you need assistance. You keep it going. You are getting strong. You are getting stronger and stronger. You're finding new allies. This gives you certainty. This is where things get tricky. You need to look closely. You need to take it vantage of your abilities.

You look over the assessment. It seems fairly accurate. Obviously, there are challenges. That's all part of the operation. But you have insight on your side. You have your own level of genius. That enables you to help review a whole picture. In this picture is giving you a greater knowledge of how things work. You are a total authority. No one can challenge your position. They try. But do you have enough information to bring them all down. You're going to use at all for your benefit. That is how things work. That is what makes you successful. Others look to you. They want to know why. They want to learn from this method. This can help them to gain the same kind of skills. But you will always remain ahead of them. And they will look to you as if you have a unique ability. We are not dealing with animals people. We can use their weaknesses to predict how they will act. And we can make them believe things. But this strengthens the organization. It gives us an integrity. This integrity is everything for you. It helps you counter around a mess. You were totally in control. No one can stop you. This is your operation. You're ready to expand. The world is yours. You have fought off the monster. Now you are the monster. They will need to find you too they will need to come get you. He will prove to be resistant. What is next? Next? You're facing the impossible. This is not something funny. Are you very good gracious. You are so far behind the curve. You better get good at this. This really doesn't matter. Got what you want. So it really doesn't matter. You're going to face it. And to take you down. If you're helping to advance this vision for the rest of society. For whatever it is Eros staying here. That's all there is. All the needs to be. That's all nothing will ever again. He moving along. It helps your growth. It gives you strength. You're trying to figure it all out it helps you to balance. It helps you to choose. I love you to find your personality. You can define yourself. You can define what you want. You are the maker. And throughout the story, he will retain that position. It's all about creating multiple stories. It's all about creating multiple identities. They won't be able to stop you. The only person who can stop you as yourself. Is that what we have to look forward to. Is that what is coming next.? How did you get yourself into this? How do you ever hope that you can get yourself out? This is not doing anything for you. This is not doing anything with you. This is all about you. Are you sure that they get into Chrome I feel like they're getting too close. They can guess your next move. They can predict things. And this is not gonna go in your favor. It couldn't be worse. That is creating difficulties for the operation. I can't let this be. A day. Camera thing as go on like this. It's not gonna make any difference. Any difference at all. There's so many things in your way. They're in your way. They're gonna do what they can to shut you down. They think that they have you figure it out. Take it for what it is. Take it for what you will. And that's that. This is going to come to an end. The stories going to come to an end. Then, what are you gonna do? What will you be able to do? It'll be over your head. And nothings gonna be possible. Nothing will be possible.h

I had stirred with a clear commitment. Assisted me in solidifying my position within the organization. From that understanding, I was able to extend my role. I recognized other opportunities. I work with people who could enhance my efforts. I recognized my skills. This was the beginning of some thing more I have found a place. And accommodated with how I saw myself. That was very important. This understanding would be enough for future endeavors. If I was a good person. That's how the organization worked. We were collecting information. We were applying it. It meant something. It was important. It gave us pause. Gave us strength. Through this knowledge I was bettering myself and others. If we needed to spy on others. That was part of our mission. Not everybody has the same commitment to truth. For that reason, I needed to reinforce my own understanding. I didn't want to think that I was going around in a circle. I think that was the general attitude at the herb. We realized that our individual ability was based on our influence of other people. This would give us the confidence that we lacked. It would reassure us that we could take on new tasks. There was a brilliance to this insight. It coincided with the belief about the society. The organization is staffed with special people. Special people deserve special treatment. I came to understand this with clarity. There's no other way to see this. It's also gave me straight. It was always all about dominating those negative influences. If that meant disciplining others., That was all part of the operation. We were there to make things happen. People were taught skills that they could use to start their own businesses. They were creating an independence. They were learning how to use the economic system in a positive manner. I felt that I was participating in some thing significant. This added to the overall experience. We were all involved together. We felt that reassurance. It kept us focused. We built upon the knowledge. We could take on other tasks. We were all ambitious people. This seem to justify her omissions. That was why excited us. In a sense, there is no restraint. This is our definition of freedom. Even if that meant that we exercise more freedom than others. We knew the game. We had a special book. That was how we are supposed to be. We could rely on others to tell us. We were in control. It was our game. It was our rules. It was our board. We did what we wanted to do. That gave us leeway. Granted a stray. How do we see things progressing? This was significant. We were looking to the future. We were enhancing our characters. This was like going to the gym. We were strengthening our muscles. It's all made sense. Overtime, we felt smarter. We were learning things. We were discovering new ways of looking at the world. This added to our confidence. It was more than a form of belief. His faith constructed the world in a new manner. We loved that opportunity. It seem to spread out everywhere. It filled us. It was totally natural. He gave us everything that we aspire to. This is the best part of all. We had hope. We didn't have to worry about the challenges that others faced. We had bypassed that. We had found strength. Our commitment to the truth and given us a world which reflected our desires. Thus, the future was equally true as the present. This added to our commitment. And reinforced thought about ourselves. I could be take this further. I could we build upon this knowledge? What was the source of greater inspiration. Our faith demonstrated how there is this unique power in our souls. We could use it to involve others. This offered us greater justification. We couldn't surrender yes awareness. Who is part of our legacy. And we excepted it for what it was. My experience of giving me a clarity. And the organization reinforce that understanding. That was why I excepted its discipline. To make me amor understanding individual. Even still, I knew what I had. I had an excellent. Tatian reassured me about that. I just was part of my nature. And I was getting to know myself better. I love this possibility. Period I was acquiring a mentor. I was recognizing I was building on my aspirations my identity was grounded actual accomplishments. I did not get distracted by promises. Our dreams were based upon knowledge. This knowledge had evidence. For that reason I had no doubt that we were on the right track. I was working from a queer starting point. I was building up on it. This on the added to my sense of accomplishment. It made me more assured. What was the actual source of the certainty. It was scientific. The science was built into our nature. It was brilliant and it's on Waze. I excepted his calling. Enabled me to explore other opportunities. I saw what I had. I can make it into something. I can move it along. I can discover my real talents. It was wild. I could delve so deeply into myself, and it was still makes sense. The picture wasn't blurred. It had clarity. It had clarity because it was based on faith. Faith guided me to knowledged. Knowledge guided me to evidence. Evidence provided proof. That gave shape to my arguments. Made me more assured. I wasn't afraid. I could be comfortable with my emotions. The organization taught me how to realize my aspirations. This was a wondrous opportunity. I wanted to invite others. Where was it all going? I recognized something important. This could be important to others. When they needed to make the right sacrifices. I need to accept things. I have excepted a great deal. I wasn't hesitant at all. They needed to learn what was available. Shape fair futures. You can lead to a lasting awareness. Truly, I was on board. I was part of some thing magnificent. Made me excited. And I understood my role. I was preventing things from getting too much out of control. I was creating a balance for everyone. It was wonderful. They look to me. I could give them what they needed. I could prevent their emotions from becoming overpowering. This is all part of my genius. I excepted it. I loved it. I felt as if I was being credited for all my skills. I had only added to my wonder. And reassured me. I excepted that invitation. It was the father. Everything would be revealed in good time. Others to my program. They would see my leadership skills. Thus, everything was justified. Everything it worked out well. There's only gave me greater sense of accomplishment. There's no other way to CVS. I had signed up for this. Others could follow my example. I need to share with him. I need to tell him when it happened. He become just as excited as I was. They would see all these benefits. This would add to our productivity. We all marveled. It couldn't be more wonderful. This was everything. There's no other way to see this. It was not a mistake. It was not an accident. Period we were trying to hold on. We didn't want anything to get destroyed. That was how it worked. That's what made things function. We had a power. We had knowledge. We had certain date. Part of our exploration. We were taking it further from that point on., Our growth would be more intense. This would fill us with knowledge. It would help or further exploration. We could get over our negative feelings. We realize there was one purpose. There was one law. It was one principal. He could help us find unity in our verses. This is why it was all so successful. We knew it was needed. We infiltrated. We made things happen. We were wonders. We found the power inside. It made us all powerful. It made us all knowing. The organization was devoted to this kind of awareness. It worked again and again. It was the only thing worth knowing. I was the only thing with me. We surpassed expectations we found graders spray. He realized I needed to be done. And we did it. From our leader ship skills be progressed to supporting others. We gave them the needed awareness. We found their weaknesses, and we repaired them. Be compensated for their challenges. We let the world know what was available to them. That was why we found a role in success. There was an excellence in our progress. There's nothing else to think about. There's nothing else that matter. We found the point where this all came together. And added to our greater awareness. We transcended ourselves. Our bodies were transfigure. This added to our excitement. We couldn't start. Why should wait. There's no other way to think about this. We were joining something that was entirely marvelous. This attitude or mission. It was a long range. There was no end to the sixth oration. It gave us pause. New possibilities. We were in touch with the universe. The organization could build upon this cosmology. We were just doing a job. We were rewriting history. We had all the tools. We lived in the truth. We were the truth. There is no other way to see this. There's no other way to Fiona's. It was all us. It was all are doing. It wasn't anything dangerous. It was all natural. He became the definition of creation. That was to Pendas. Added to our calling. We excepted this opportunity. We couldn't see it any other way. It was more than a purpose. And was the meaning of the universe. It was the meaning of ourselves. It was the joining of all these forces. We immersed ourselves within. This is how it was supposed to be. We loved this unity.
